Link's Board of Directors (the "Board") consists of total 12 members, comprising 9 (or 75%) Independent Non-Executive Directors (the "INEDs") with various professional backgrounds. Among them, all board committees are also chaired by the INEDs, and their balanced and diverse composition facilitates highly independent monitoring and inquiries on recommendations made by the management. The main risks of the Group and the changes in their respective risk momentum are managed by the corresponding departments or functional departments as Risk Head and monitored by the Risk Management team. Its Executive Directors and senior management will be informed of major risks on a monthly basis, and quarterly to the Audit and Risk Management Committee. This allows the Board to have regular oversight of the Group's major risks while having clear distribution of responsibilities between the Board and the management. Link's corporate governance remits extend beyond the Board and board committees, and reach its heads of departments, stakeholders, institutional investors, management, and regulatory authority, so that sustainable long-term value can be delivered to them under the direction of the Board.
